

M. S. BROWNING ELECTED UTAH NATIONAL PRESIDENT

M. S. Browning, widely known banker, who was elected president of the Utah National Bank yesterday, succeeding David C. Eccles, who resigned because of the press of other business.

BANK'S CAPITAL INCREASED HERE

Authorization Comes to Local Institution From Comptroller of Currency

Charles H. Barton, vice president and manager of the National Bank of Commerce, announced last night the bank had received authorization from Comptroller of the Currency William C. Williams to increase its capital stock to $250,000 and its surplus to $125,000. These increases were voted by the bank a few weeks ago, but authorization for the increases awaited an examination by national bank examiners. These examiners completed their report and sent it to Washington. The statement of condition resulted in the immediate authorization from the comptroller of the currency.

The former capitalization was $175,000 and the former surplus $75,000. The bank is more than pleased to make this announcement. Mr. Barton said yesterday: "It means that our reorganization work is successful and the bank is in fine condition to do its share in the development of the industrial and business life of the community."

STRIKING ELECTRICAL MEN SEIZE GERMAN PLANIS

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—Reports from upper Silesia say that the industrial life in the region is paralyzed by a strike of electrical workmen at Chorzow, Zabrze and Gliwice. The strike is the result of a dispute between the managers of the works at Chorzow and the workers. The strike committee has declared to have made fruitless efforts at mediation.

Don't Buy Doubtful Stocks

We advise the following investigation before purchase:

Is the money that I put into the proposition absolutely safe?
Is it a security that I can sell readily and easily and without loss if I need the money?
Is it a security upon which banks would lend me money?
Is the management of the company honest?
Assuming it is honest, is the management qualified by previous experience to conduct the business successfully and profitably?
Is the article to be manufactured one for which there is a real demand?
Assuming that there is a real demand, is the company able to market this in a manner to return a reasonable profit?
How does the probable rate of interest or dividend compare with absolutely safe investments that I could make?
Have I taken the word of the solicitor or have I investigated sufficiently to know the proposition thoroughly?

OGDEN GIRLS TO BE ORGANIZED

Campfire Units to Be Formed;
Summer Activities Already Planned

Under the direction of a number of Ogden women the Campfire Girls are to be organized in this city and already splendid efforts have been realized in the securing of the spacious and excellently furnished basement play rooms of the Mrs. David Eccles home on Jefferson avenue and Twenty-sixth street.

Ogden people will remember that during the summer Miss Rosalind Reiman directed Campfire work as a branch of the Community Service, but it was found impractical to be carried on through the schools so a reorganization has resulted and the girls' work will be carried on entirely in league with the schools of the city. Miss Beulah Brown, former teacher and now in charge of home economics and by Mrs. Sophia Reed, director of physical activities. These young women will be aided and advised by a committee comprising Mrs. David Eccles, chairman, Mrs. Aggie Stevens, secretary, Mrs. Chris Flygare, chairman of finance, Mrs. J. G. Paley, consulting member, and Mrs. Edward Rich and Mrs. S. Smith, special advisors. All women of Ogden are expected to aid in every way in the movement which is already advanced to the stage of organizing about twenty groups of girls between ten and eighteen years of age. Meetings are to be held in school buildings or homes and the activities are to be limited to one meeting a week, probably to be held afternoons following school sessions. Night meetings are to be avoided. Honors are to be earned through the regular school and home program of the girl, the object of the Scouts being to bring all girls the opportunity for group experience, outdoor life, and to learn through work, but more to play, to serve their community. The program provides incentives for practicing woman's world-old arts by requiring an elementary proficiency in cooking, housekeeping, first aid and the rules of healthful living. There are forty odd subjects for which "Proficiency" badges are given, and more than one-fourth are in subjects directly related to the health of woman in the home, as mother, nurse or home keeper.

Already preparation has been made for the summer of the girls. Mrs. J. G. Paley has been instrumental in securing, through District Forester R. H. Rutledge of the local service office, a summer camp site located on Blacksmith Fork in the Cache forest. The camp is about seven miles from Hyrum, Utah, easily reached on the interurban line and is a short hike from the train to camp. The superior of the Cache forest has chosen the site and now awaits the committee to visit the place and decide on the number of acres to be set aside for this purpose.

A plan will be worked out by the groups whereby the committee will soon be able to announce just what it will cost each girl for her food for the ten days' outing. The expense is to be borne entirely by the girl herself and it is expected that each girl will earn the amount by the time of the outing. Provisions will be secured at wholesale if possible and the cost to each will be held to the very lowest figure. In fact, a prize will be offered to the group composing the most economical menu.

Tents must be furnished by the women of the city. Every woman is needed to help the Campfire Girls' movement in Ogden and to make it as successful an organization as in hundreds of other cities of the United States. At present there is no existing thriving organization at Irkutsk, Siberia and the last number of "The American Girl" carries an interesting article of the work being accomplished there. It is hoped by those who have been most instrumental in the beginning of this work in Ogden that every woman of the city will take especial interest in the organization.

If any wish to know further of the organization and its demands, they are requested to address Miss Beulah Brown at the David Eccles home, 2526 Jefferson avenue.

ALASKA'S POPULATION
ANNOUNCED AS 54,178

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 6.—Alaska's population is 54,178, a decrease of 14.9 per cent in the last decade, according to an announcement made here today by W. D. Lopp who, as superintendent of the Alaska district of the United States bureau of education, had charge of the census in the northern territory. Ten years ago the population was 64,126. This year there are 29,210 white residents and 25,968 natives in the north, Lopp announced.

MANY INQUIRIES OF STOCK SHOW

Present Indications Point to Record Entries for 1921
Event

Inquiries received by sponsors of the Second Annual Ogden Livestock show, to be held at the Union stock yards January 6, 7 and 8, indicate that the show will have double the entries of last season.

Interest seems much greater. Livestock associations not only in the west but in the middle and even in the south, have taken notice of the coming exhibition. The difficulty will be experienced in housing the entire number of exhibits. It is feared. All but the highest class exhibits, representing the best cattle that the west has to offer, will be excluded from the show and by this means, it is believed, adequate accommodations will be provided. Pure bred registry associations have extended an offer to exhibitors at the show which was not made last year. A number of the associations have offered to give one dollar in premiums for every two dollars offered by the Ogden Livestock association. Catalogues, listing premiums for the various exhibits, will be off the press within the next day or two, and during the next week will be mailed to five thousand intermountain farmers. One of the features of this season's show is the inclusion of all buildings in which the stock will be shown. Last season, during the intense cold which prevailed, many persons complained that the cold caused them to cut short their visit. This will be guarded against this season. It is stated. Secretary A. W. Taylor announced yesterday that the show will not only be larger, but will be far superior to the previous event.

Special Service at First Congregational

The morning service at the First Congregational church today is to be of special significance. At that time the new Hall Organ will be dedicated. Miss Ivine Shields, for the past four years accompanist at the church services, will preside at the console. The order of services for the day is as follows:
At 11 a. m. Divine worship, Dedication of the organ, and sermon.
Prelude, "Romance" Sheppard
"To a Wild Rose" MacDowell
Offertory, "Andante Pastorale" Alexis
Postlude, "Marche Pontificale" Gounod
At 12:30 p. m. C. E. society, Miss Fish, president. All young people cordially invited.
At 7:30 p. m. Divine worship and sermon.
Prelude, "A Shepherd's Idyl" Geibel
Offertory, "Evening Star" Wagner
Postlude, "Thanksgiving" Homer
Sermon, "The Jesus of History" against this season, it is stated. Secretary A. W. Taylor announced yesterday that the show will not only be larger, but will be far superior to the previous event.

SPERRY FLOUR MANAGER HERE

Joseph M. Parker Arrives in Ogden to Take Charge of Local Plant

Joseph M. Parker, former general manager of the Sperry Flour company at San Jose, Cal., has arrived in Ogden and has taken up his new duties here as general manager of the new plant. Mr. Parker arrived here from the coast Friday and was the guest of honor at a banquet given at the Weber club that evening by local representatives of the flour company. Manager Parker has been associated with the Sperry mills for many years. He is widely known as a milling man.

At the banquet held at the Weber club Manager Parker gave a short response after he had been welcomed to Ogden and stated that he was glad to be here. That he was eager to see Ogden become one of the leading milling centers of the west and that he was glad to know that Ogden business men were back of those associated with the various milling companies. "Our Ogden plant will be going full blast by the middle of February," said Manager Parker, "and from all indications, the entire plant will be one of the best in the western states. The work on the new mill is rapidly nearing completion."

Three new modern brick bungalows situated on Fowler avenue between Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth streets. The coming residential district of Ogden. Built eight, all sold but three so you'll have to hurry if you want one of these Altman built homes. Come see them Sunday.
